This workshop series will explore the rich spirituality of the Mass and offer practical tips to help attendees get more out of every celebration of Mass. Presented by Father Matthew Ernest, Professor of Liturgy at St. Joseph's Seminary, the next workshop, "Finding the Hidden Treasures in Every Mass" will take place on Saturday, 13 October from 10:00 to 11:30 a.m. at St. Joseph's Seminary in Yonkers. Registration is $10. Register and find more information at www.nyliturgy.org/workshops.

TWENTY-SEVENTH SUNDAY

This Sunday's Liturgy presents again the fundamental text of the Book of Genesis on the complementarity and reciprocity between man and woman (cf. Genesis 2:18-24). Therefore, the Bible states, a man leaves his father and his mother and clings to his wife, and the two become one flesh, that is, one life, one existence (cf. v. 24). In this unity, spouses pass on life to new human beings: they become parents. They participate in the creative power of God himself. But be mindful! God is love, and one participates in his work when one loves with Him and like Him. For this purpose, St Paul states, love has been poured into our hearts through the Holy Spirit who has been given to us (cf. Romans 5:5). This is also the love which is given to spouses in the Sacrament of Marriage. It is love that nourishes their relationship, through joy and pain, untroubled and difficult moments. It is love that gives rise to the desire to bear children, to await them, welcome them, raise them, teach them. It is the same love which, in today's Gospel, Jesus shows toward children: "Let the children come to me, do not hinder them; for to such belongs the kingdom of God" (Mark 10:14).

Today, let us ask the Lord that all parents and educators of the world, as well as the whole of society, make themselves instruments of welcome and of that love with which Jesus embraces the littlest ones. He looks into their hearts with the tenderness and solicitude of a father and of a mother at the same time. I think of so many children who are hungry, abandoned, exploited, forced into war, rejected. It is heartbreaking to see images of unhappy children, with a bewildered gaze, who flee from poverty and conflicts, knocking at our doors and on our hearts, begging for help. May the Lord help us to be not a society-fortress, but a society-family, able to welcome, with appropriate rules, but to welcome, to always welcome, with love!
