OUR LADY OF PROMPT SUCCOR

Our Lady of Prompt Succor is a religious title given to the Blessed Virgin Mary, the mother of Jesus, by the Roman Catholic Church. It refers to a statue of the Madonna kept in a shrine in New Orleans, Louisiana. She is also known as Notre-Dame de Bon Secours. She is the principal patroness of the state of Louisiana, the Archdiocese of New Orleans, and the city of New Orleans.

Brief History:

In 1727, French Ursuline nuns founded what is the oldest school for girls in the territory of the modern-day U.S., Ursuline Academy, which educated the children of European colonist, Native Americans, and those of the local Creole people, slave or free.

Spanish sisters came to assist the growing school in 1763, after Louisiana fell under Spanish control. In 1800 the territory came back under French possession, and most sisters, fearing the anti-clerical sentiment of the French Revolution, fled to Havana, Cuba.

Short on teachers, Mother Saint Andre Madier requested sisters from France come to America to aid the struggling convent in 1803. She wrote to her cousin, Mother Saint Michel Gensoul, who was running a Catholic girls boarding school in France for help. The Catholic Church was suffering the wrath of the revolution under Napoleon.

Mother Saint Michel, knowing that the Church was in distress in both her homeland and abroad, was prompted by the Holy Spirit to approach Bishop Fournier of Montpelier, to request the transfer. Bishop Fournier felt unable to afford the loss of another nun, as many had been killed or fled during the revolution. Bishop Fournier told Mother St. Michel, "The Pope alone can give this authorization." The Holy Father granted her request on April 29, 1809.

Mother St. Michel commissioned a statue of the Virgin Mary holding the Infant Jesus. By request, Bishop Fournier blessed the statue and Mother St. Michel's work.

Mother St. Michel arrived in New Orleans with the statue of Our Lady of Prompt Succor on December 31, 1810.

The statue was placed in the monastery chapel and is venerated by the people of New Orleans.
